WASHINGTON (A)-Congressional leaders of both parties pledged unanimous backing today to President Eisenhower on his forthcoming tour of free world nations.

Chairman J. William Fulbright (D.-Ark.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said Democratic leaders who breakfasted with the President all gave their approval to Eisenhower's forthcoming excursion in personal diplomacy.

Fulbright said he suggested to Eisenhower that this is "a very propitious time to bring about a settlement of difficulties in India and Pakistan."

It Isn't Too Early To Think Of Hamilton Field Closing

In the last few days we have had two pieces of news from Hamilton Air Force Base which should cause us to stop a minute and consider what is happening.

First we were told that the Air Rescue Squadron at the base, which has flown more than 220 rescue missions this year, will be done away with on Jan. 1.

Next it was announced that the 83rd Fighter Interceptor Squadron at the base will be deactivated next August. Rockets undoubtedly are replacing manned aircraft for such missions.

If you take air rescue and fighter interceptor operations away from Hamilton, two of its principal reasons for existence are gone. True, there are various headquarters established there, but it is not too difficult to move headquarters and HQs usually function better where other operations are going on.

Therefore perhaps Marin should consider what would happen if Hamilton is abandoned by the Air Force. How would it affect the economy? What would happen to the air field itself? How about all that shiny new housing just being constructed out there?

If the field were turned over to the county, should it be just a county airport? Or should it be the third international airport for the Bay Area, along with San Francisco and Oakland?

These are pertinent questions, questions which deserve careful consideration by both governmental and private individuals and organizations.

It isn't too soon to start thinking along these lines because even if it doesn't happen for five years, five years isn't

Miller Misquoted? I-J Misquoted

EDITOR, Independent-Journal:

I wish to call your attention to a misquotation attributed to Rep. Clement W. Miller in your edition of November 20:

In that issue, as part of an article on Mr. Miller's meeting with the American Field Service exchange students in Maring County, the congressman is quoted (in the headline as well as in the article) as saying that "Congress is showing some of its habitual shortsightedness through refusal to recognize Red China."

What Congressman Miller actually did say to the stu- Novato dents on this issue was that it was the State Department that would have to change its attitude before any shift in American policy on China could take place; the Congress does not have the authority to bring about any such redirection of foreign policy.

Congressman Miller's remarks on this subject were made in the course of a series of questions on the functions of the Congress and on the contrasting responsibilities of the executive and legislative branches of the national government; the question on China was, incidentally, raised

Mr. Miller was speaking in an effort to enlighten the overseas students with respect to the nature of our federal structure. EDITOR. Independent-Journal:

On behalf of the Novato Volunteer Fire Dept. members, I wish to thank you for your coverage of our muscular dystrophy drive. As in the past, it has helped inform the public of our effort and they anticipate our arrival.

Unfortunately, we are unable to cover the entire area as we would like to. Monday night 15 volunteers collected $491 in a door to door campaign which last year netted

$1,065. Fewer men were avail- ning restrictions, rigidly enable for this years drive and more homes to be covered left us considerably behind last years effort. However, several of the volunteers have expressed their intentions of going out one or two more nights during Thanksgiving week in an attempt to cover areas completely neglected.

We would also like to thank the public for their warm and generous response to this cause. Should there be anyone among those we have missed who wish to contribute, please drop it off at either fire station or mail directly to muscular dystrophy headquarters in Kentfield.

No Development Without Planning

Independent-Journal:

I would like to comment on your editorial of Tuesday, Nov. 17, concerning the forthcoming development of the coastal portion of Marin Coun-

You correctly point out the geographic proximity of the area to San Francisco, and you also point out the probable impact of a more direct route for the Shoreline High-

There are also other probable or possible developments which could attract people to the area. One of these is the eventual development of the Bolinas Lagoon into a small boat harbor of refuge, and simultaneously into an extensive marine recreational usage. Another possible development is the establishment of the proposed Pt. Reyes National Seashore Park.

Any one of these developments demands extensive planning in order to be of the greatest benefit to the greatest number of people, both residents of the area and visit-forced, and in assuming that development of the area in conformance with present controls would be "appropriate and valuable." Actually, all of the area is now zoned in a most inadequate way, and at the mercy of almost any kind of development. The planning staff of the County of Marin is just starting to prepare a master plan for Stinson Beach and Bolinas areas, the property owners and residents are just starting to think about what kind of a community they want to have in the future.

There is little time to lose, as planning goes. It may take several years to get the master plan and zoning ordinance. prepared and adopted.

In the meantime, your newspaper could help by encouraging the Board of Supervisors and the planning staff in their efforts to proceed as rapidly as possible with the preparation of those plans which can and will insure for all of us the best and highest use of what is undeniably one of the most beautiful land areas we have.

But I do not feel that you should encourage development in the absence of proper planning, for that will only promote chaos, and will not be in the best interest of the people whom you serve.

The only bird our stuffed When he took over as adminfamily is interested in talking about these days is turkey cold from the refrigerator. And even the subject of birds is beginning to grow thin as the Yuletide draws closer.

Not so with members of the Marin Audubon Society, whose hearts quicken as they approach a field trip next Saturday. Then they will go to much trouble tramping through field and marsh just to get a good look at some of our seldom seen feathered friends.

All nature lovers are welcome to tag along, but it's clear it's no business for a rank beginner in the bird watching game, unless he has boned up the night before.

If you go, you'll be looking (and listening) for whistling swans, the wood duck, the hooded and common mergansers, the green-winged teal the gadwall, shoveller, the ring-necked duck and the bufflehead — to mention but a

And so it is that the hospital's hallways are now bedecked with oils and water colors by Marin artists, all due to a plan concocted by the administrator to allow the six artists to display their wares at various times during the year.

We Mustn't Be Tricked By Soviets Into Gesture Condoning Past Acts

There is one thing we better get clear right off so that there is no doubt about it: The American government and the American people do not accept the Soviet proposition that ending the cold war means closing off free speech. We do not accept the proposition that every time the Soviets want to soft-pedal a past and continuing crime and immobilize the United Nations, all it has to do is raise its hand in mock pain and say: "Oh, no, you mustn't discuss that matter, that would violate the 'spirit of Camp David'." We do not accept the proposition that, just because we welcome Mr. K's taking the pledge against future interference in the internal affairs of other nations, we thereby accept as fixed and unchangeable the consequences of Moscow's past interferences, in the internal affairs of other

KHRUSHCHEV knows what he's up to and we better be onto it. What Khrushchev wants is some tangible gesture It seems to me it will do by which the U.S. appears to accept as permanent the Soviet domination of the Satellite states and, if he can't get that, he aims to coax from us some intangible gesture which he can make over to look tangible and use against us so that whenever we raise a voice in behalf of freedom in the satellite world he can accuse us of violating the rules of "peaceful co-existence."

That isn't what peaceful coexistence means to us.

MY OWN FEELING is that Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge brilliantly and decisively nipped this Soviet tactic in the bud at the United Nations. Here is the way it went:

A year ago the U. N. directed Sir Leslie Munroe, former President of the General Assembly and former head of the New Zealand delegation. to gather information of what was transpiring in Hungary.

Sir Leslie prepared his report from a variety of diplomatic sources inside and outside Hungary and from refugee and intelligence sources. The promised withdrawal of Soviet troops has not taken place. Executions continue and others are in prospect, in-

AMBASSADOR LODGE was

"Nothing happened at Camp David" (the scene of the Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks), he said, "which requires us to condone evil.

"Nothing happened at Camp David which requires us to pass by in silence on the other side of the street when a brutality has been committed.

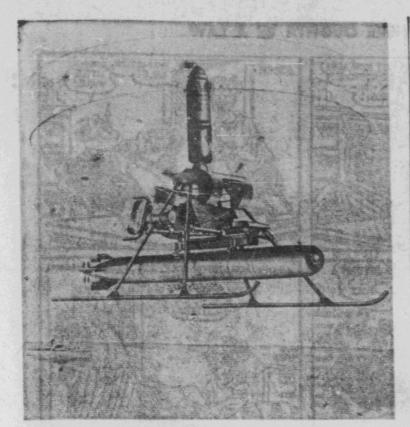

"Nothing happened at Camp David to prevent us from acting like human beings."

If the United Nations ever swallowed the pill which the Soviet delegate was prescribing, it would put the whole free world to sleep like Rip Van Winkle.

Bolling Air Force Base Generals blanked Hamilton's Defenders by a 9-0 count Saturday at Hamilton for the mythical Air Force football championship.

The grim contest saw the Generals take a 3-0 first quarter lead on a field goal by Leroy Phelps and sew up the victory in the final period on a nine-yard touchdown run by Phelps. The latter score was set up on an intercepted pass.

Hamilton's lone scoring threat came on a drive in the second period that put the Defenders on the Bolling 10. However, a field goal attempt by Lou Baldacci was wide.

Triple C Yule Tea Wednesday

A Christmas tea will be pre-sented in the parish hall by the Mill Valley Community Church Club Wednesday at 2 p.m., and members will participate in the program entitled, "Christmas is Coming."

The tea, a traditional event during the Yule season, takes the place of the December luncheon meeting, according to Mrs. William B. Allen, Triple C

A two-part program has been planned for the afternoon. Mrs. Gilbert Barnes will read "Let's Keep Christmas," the widely acclaimed sermon by the late Peter Marshall. Musical part of the program will be provided by Mrs. C. L. Cummins and Mrs. David Reed, who will sing solos and duets of unusual carols and Christmas music. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Donald Fowler.

Chairman of the tea will be Mrs. C. Lyle Cummins, assisted by Mesdames Richard Parino, Marie Winberg and Lillian Cook. Mrs. Allen will pour, and helping serve will be board officers Mesdames John Norall, Robert Lane and Lowell Jett.

No reservations are necessary, and child care will be provided in the nursery.

Some cooks like to broil salmon steaks about 2 inches from low heat. This way the steaks need about 10 minutes before they are turned.

TV LOG FOR TONIGHT & TOMORROW San Anselman's Device Keeps Pool Clean

A small quantity of salt and the right machine will keep your swimming pool healthful and clear, says the machine's inventor, George Gray of San Anselmo.

After three years of work, Gray has perfected a machine called the Chloromatic, which provides a new process of water sterilization. The machine breaks down salt particles and delivers a controlled amount of sodium hyprochlorite, giving a pool the right balance of acid and alkali. This, Gray says, keeps the water clean of bacteria and algae 24 hours a day.

ELIMINATES MESS This method, he said, eliminates the need to pour in bulky and messy chlorine and to test for the amount already in the water. Gray's machine is a grey metal oblong unit about two feet wide, which is set along side the pool's filter and plugs into a 110-volt electric outlet. After it is switched on, no more attention need be given it except to add salt to the water when a dial on the face indicates it. Gray said that three-fourths of one per cent salt is added, amounting to about 75 pounds per thousand gallons of water. This is considerably less salty #### than the ocean, he said.

18 OPERATING So far about 18 of the machines are operating on pools in Marin. Wiltshire Towers Motel on Highway 101 north of San Rafael has operated its pool with a Gray machine since July. Shaun Wiltshire, owner, said motel guests at first noticed a slight saltiness of the water, but soon were used to it and liked the softness of the water for swimming. Gray said he and his brother, TONIGHT: David Gray, are former pool contractors and became partners in the sterilizer venture. "It took three years of try- Hospital ing, but this machine is the final perfected one," Gray said. It has been approved by health authorities as a new method authorities as a new method of water sterilization, which may have uses in large restaurants and other installations which use quantities of sterlized water, he declared.

Six women make up Fairfax's corps of monitor mothers: two for each school. They work one hour each school day, at a fee of $2 per day. The money comes from the playground and recreation budget which is part of the "community services" override tax of the school district and cannot, by law, be used to pay teachers or buy classroom "Providing Fairfax teachers with a responsibility-free lunch period has given their morale a terrific boost," according to Superintendent DePue.

FREE PERIOD

Bruce McDonald, principal of both Deer Park and Central schools, says his teachers are having a free lunch period "for the first time in their lives. Previously they took turns at playground supervision.

Says Homer L. Sisk, Manor School principal: "This is the first time in my 32 years' experience that teachers have had a break at noon.'

Of the six monitor mothers, one is really not a mother at all. Mrs. C. P. Moore of 181 Pine drive, one of Deer Park's two noontime monitors, has no children of her own. But working with youngsters is not new to her. She has served as a Girl Scout camp counselor and in other Girl Scout jobs.

The other monitor mothers have from two to seven children each.

How do they like the work? Only one reported any trouble with the youngsters. "They tried to see how much they could get away with at first, but everything is settling down now," she said.

The other five reported no difficulties and commented that the children seem pleased "to have a mother around and be out from under teacher's eye
